

ELECTRONIC ACCESS License Agreement
 Version 1.1 (1/1/2006)

This license is an agreement between International Press and its subscribers. The agreement pertains to the rights to the electronic version of the following journals (please indicate the journals to which you are subscribed), hereafter known as "the Journal(s)":

	Asian Journal of Mathematics
	Advances in Theoretical and Mathematical Physics
✓	Communications in Analysis and Geometry
	Communications in Information and Systems
	Communications in Mathematical Sciences
	Dynamics of Partial Differential Equations
	Journal of Differential Geometry
	Journal of Symplectic Geometry
	Methods and Applications of Analysis
	Pure and Applied Mathematics Quarterly

To register rights under this agreement, please print it and mail or fax a signed copy to the address given below.

Agreement

The Journal(s) are published by International Press. The Journal(s) aim to provide the highest quality research articles in its field both electronically and in traditional media. This agreement allows for the dissemination of the journal subject to particular restrictions detailed below.

Rights

The copyright of the Journal(s) remain the property of International Press. Except where specifically mentioned as belonging to the authors, the copyright of each paper belongs to International Press. The Journal(s) grant individual subscribers access on their personal computers, and institutional subscribers access for any faculty, staff, students, distance learners, alumni, on-site library users, and library patrons utilizing the subscriber's campus network for educational, research or personal uses. Users may download articles on the computers covered by the above agreement. They may print articles for personal use. They may send copies of individual articles by email, print, or fax to persons at other locations for those person's personal use, as long as they do not send more than five copies of any one article outside of the subscribing institution. An unlimited number of copies may be printed and distributed as part of a course at a subscribing institution, but the copyright holder's permission should be secured before sending more than five copies to non-members of a subscribing institution. In no case will the subscriber have any right to sell any form of the copyrighted material in this electronic journal without specific written permission from the copyright holder.

Archiving

Subscribers may download and archive any of the materials in the Journal(s) on the computers covered by this agreement. In this case, they may grant access to other members of the subscribing institution and have the right to maintain material covered by their subscription permanently. However, restrictions on distribution beyond the subscribing institution must still be observed.

Warranty

- The Journal(s) will use reasonable efforts to provide continuous service and sufficient bandwidth to provide quality access.
- The Journal(s) warrant that it has the copyright to the materials in this electronic journal and infringes no third party's copyright.
- The Journal(s) provide no additional warranties of any kind either expressed or implied, including any implied warranty of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose. Ideas express in the journal are not intended for any non-academic purposes.

For Online Access during the Year: 2006

Signed: [signature removed]

Print Name: Tony A. Harvell

E-mail Address: [text removed] on Date: 9/27/06

for the institution.

Please print the institution name:

University of California, San Diego Libraries

Institution Tel. No: [text removed]

IP address range(s): [text removed]

Domain name (if any):

Please return the completed agreement with your order to:

International Press

Attn: Online Access

[text removed]

[text removed]

Fax: [text removed]

E-mail: [text removed]