Getting to Full-Text Articles from Your PubMed Search

Directions for Obtaining a Single Article:

2. Perform your PubMed search. Click on the title of an article of interest to see the article’s abstract.

3. The Abstract display shows the UC-eLinks button. Click it to view the full-text options.
Retrieve Multiple Articles at One Time:

Perform your search in PubMed (see steps 1 and 2 on the reverse page) then follow the steps below.

1. Put checkmarks in the boxes to the left of the articles you would like to obtain.

2. Select Order from the Send to menu and the Order articles button will appear – click on it.

3. Wait a moment for your selected Citation List to be displayed by UC-eLinks.

   - If you do not see a “View article” link, click on “See if your campus has this…” to check print holdings via the UC (Melvyl) Catalog.
   - If you see a “View article” link, click on that link to display the full text of the article.
   - If UCSD does not subscribe to the journal you need, select the article(s) by click in the box next to it, then click on the Request button. Fill out the form that pops up and submit your request.

Updated 09/10