1833, December 13. Col. Trumbull to Henry Bond. Trumbull has reviewed his copy of General Order of the Army at Ticonderoga and finds nothing that would help established the family's claim (undisclosed). 1 p
Henry Breckley

New York, 1st Dec. 1833

Sir,

Your favor of the 20th came to my hands yesterday——

I have been looking over my copy of General Orders of the Army at Ticonderoga in 1776, in hopes of finding something which might be of use to your family; but found nothing; and have no other papers or Memorandoes of that date to which I can refer for the purpose—— I have a distinct recollection of Col. Bond, as a valuable officer, and of his lamented death—— but can testify to no circumstances which can be of use in establishing the claim which the family propose to institute——

Iam Sir your respectfully,

Your obedient servant

[Signature]
Henry Bond Esq., MD
14 Arch Street
Philadelphia