Dorothy Day, Editor of the Catholic Worker, was on the United Farm Workers’ picket line in August 1973. She and hundreds of other pickets were arrested because they defied as unconstitutional a court order prohibiting mass picketing.

George Meany and all of the AFL-CIO unions have backed us with money, manpower and experience. The UAW and the ILWU have also been extremely generous.

Our first march to Sacramento began with just 75 people. Now, with our friends, we can rally thousands to help us.
