

LAST YEAR'S WAGES....

At every ranch where there is a contract with the United Farm Workers of America, AFL-CIO, the workers themselves elect a committee which tells the company what they think are fair wages. InterHarvest Company in Salinas is like BelRidge Farms, a big, rich company with many crops. Right now, the union and the workers are negotiating a new contract with InterHarvest. Some of the old rates, for this past year, are:

TRACTOR DRIVERS.....	$3.08 to $3.28 an hour.
IRRIGATORS.....	$3.18 an hour.
FORK LIFT OPERATORS.....	$3.08 an hour.
Picking peppers.....	$2.43 an hour.
Picking onions.....	$ .40 per 55 pound sack.

These rates are for last season, and the union is asking for a good raise this year. In addition to wages, the workers under our Union contracts receive many, many other benefits, including paid vacations, medical insurance for the whole family, pensions, a hiring hall to protect you from discrimination in hiring, and a strong union to protect you from the "speedup" and unjust firings.
