

GOD CALLED A STRIKE ONCE.

When the Lord led Israel out of Egypt, He halted the system of slave labor that built Pharaoh's pyramids.

And when the Children of Israel were led into the new land, their prophets commanded a just life and decent wages for the workers in the fields. And all this was done in God's name.

Today, it's happening again. The workers who put food on your table are struggling to free themselves from a feudal system, from slave-labor wages, from medieval living and working conditions.

The essence of Judeo-Christian charity is helping others to help themselves, and this is what the farmworkers are asking of you. They don't want you to build their union for them; this they have already done themselves.

But the union they built is being attacked on all sides by powerful special interests—the Teamsters, the growers, the largest agribusiness corporations and food store chains. And so they are asking all those who believe in justice and decency to rally to their side.

This is when your faith is put to the test. It's not an easy thing to do, taking abstract principles and putting them into practice. But if you believe that we are all our brother's keepers, then this is the time to prove it.

Religious leaders and laymen all over the country are showing their support for the farmworkers by boycotting the fruits of exploited labor—non-UFW grapes, head lettuce and Gallo wines.

We hope you'll join them.

THE FARM WORKERS ARE LOOKING FOR A FEW GOOD MEN AND WOMEN.

If it seems like there's no jobs around or none worth doing, check this out.

The Farmworkers need you now.

This is a crucial year for us.

We need some together people to do some hard core organizing.

We need to spread the word about grapes, head lettuce and Gallo wines in the neighborhoods.

We need to tell folks that the boycott is still on.

On and working.

Working to help our people in the fields win the right to belong to the union of their choice.

The union they built. The United Farm Workers.

If you're already "organized" we'll train you to organize others in a three-day workshop. The rest you'll learn on the job.

We'll give you room and board. Five bucks a week strikers' wages. Even gas money for your car if you use it.

And we'll give you a chance to work with and for the most dedicated human beings you'll ever have a chance to meet.

Don't Buy Grapes, Head Lettuce or Gallo Wine.
