

CITIZENSHIP PARTICIPATION DEPARTMENT

Organizational Conference
North Unit Educational Center - La Paz
August 19-21, 1976

Participants: Mack Lyons, Dianna Lyons, Michael Linfield, Cesar E. Chavez, Crosby Milne, Madeline Pitt, Alex Beauchamp, Paul Hammond, Pete Velasco, Eliseo Medina, Mary Ann Coffee, Dolores Huerta, Dolores Velasco, S. Jeannine Reynolds (Notes)

An introduction was given by Cesar as to the purpose of having an organizational conference for the Citizenship Participation Department. Besides being involved in organizing workers, having strikes, getting contracts, the Union has to be involved in something other than that to protect the contracts the Union gains from its struggle; namely, political activity.

Came up with the idea to let the workers contribute money to the fund to do civic work as well as political work. The workers could take one holiday and make it a Sunday. The employer would pay the holiday to the Union fund provided the workers sign an authorization card. The pay would equal the rate the worker was making during that week for one day.

The Citizenship Participation deals with legislation, voter registration-- it is a very broad thing. It means getting involved in elections; recalling legislators and public officials who are not performing; getting people interested in the local political activity. Have to think in terms of legislation in Sacramento, Florida and Washington. There are a lot of people who are not voters because they are not citizens. We must equip them with the power to vote. Politicians want us to endorse them--not only in California but also in other cities as well. We have to be involved in telling where funds come from to protect the Union; to make sure the Union is following the law.

Since February, when the Executive Board decided to structure the Union, it assigned specific tasks to the leadership. There are only two departments left to be structurally organized. Want to give more authority to more people to do things. Have to find out if we all mean the same thing.

Have to get down to the question of how we are going to get the worker involved. At every ranch there should be someone involved in politics. He must know what is going on.

Crosby pointed out the importance of each human being recognizing that he is a creator. Second is to recognize that you are a unique creator. There has never been any Dolores nor will there be another one. Each of us is totally unique and we can create. In terms of how society functions, individuals are indispensable.

Talk about goals, strategies, objectives, functions--begin to look at how they may be grouped. It is important what kind of mental images we get. Have to use words the same way. Only important thing is that whatever the group is doing, it is done the same way. A goal is in terms of something we are working toward. A SAM (specific, attainable, measureable) objective happens within a specific time span and it is measureable. Many supporting events have to take place.

Now we are going to talk about the Union or Movement; later go through the process again in terms of the Citizenship Participation Department.

From attending workshops and conducting them, Crosby found out that an important thing came from the Legal workshop. They were creating a power base. Building a power base was a facilitating goal to help bring about a number of things. Some organizations have power as the basic goal. Difference with us is that it is a facilitating goal. Basic goals have to do with people; facilitating goals have to do with things.
