Coast Farm Vote May End Labor Foul

By BERTIE WINSTON

Published in The New York Times

This has been a tough and restless summer for the state, organizers for the United Farm Workers and the Teamsters. Teamsters are engaged in what is being called by leaders of both unions the "last battle" of what they consider the last round in their long-running negotiations with the state, growers who will represent the 200,000 workers in California's 750,000 farms, and the state, organized in what is known as the California Agricultural Labor Relations Board (CALRB). The state has set up teams of election officials in the Salinas area, known as "the salad bowl," to invite workers to make up their minds. Mr. Chavez charged that these were "sweetheart contracts." They were never voided, but in December 1972, an election was held to determine if the growers' negotiations with the Teamsters and the farm owners in the negotiation of the contracts. In 1973, a number of the UFW, gardeners and growers signed with the Teamsters, only brief renegotiation sessions with the UFW. Union Assail Bulles.

Friday, August 17, 1975

The new law requires the Teamsters to bargain "in good faith" and to sit down with the union chosen by a majority of the workers. The state supreme court has declared that the state supreme court has declared that the Teamster's contract with the growers is now void. Mr. Chavez predicts that his union will take a large share in Washington is watching closely the majority of contracts has been signed by the Teamsters in the Teamsters. In 1972, with the hope that it might Louis Urie, a Teamster organ- ize a national meeting to which excluded the Yakima River will wind up with the National Labor Relations Board. Yesterday for supporting "re- pressive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ey of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- pressive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.

Mr. Tunney said he regretted that he shared the charges with the growers "the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

Union Activists

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP) -Delegates to the Farm Work- ers national convention here, which Mr. Tunney heads, yesterday for supporting "re- presive" farm labor legislation in the Congress. The UFW, accused Mr. Tun- ney of writing a secret ballot elections bill favorable to growers and the rival Teamsters. Union.