Inmates Holding 3 Guards
Issue Demands in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 26 (AP) — A jail riot here yesterday left three guards in hospital, caused a $500,000 damage, and forced a $50,000 expenditure for improved conditions at the city jail to accommodate 400 inmates.

The latest demands were made at a protest meeting of inmates held at the main police station by 500 prisoners who took over the jail yesterday.

With the aid of tanks, the police yesterday held off the inmates in the main lobby of the station.

The inmates said their demands were for better food, more toilet paper, and new towels.

The police, meanwhile, were busy trying to hold the rioters at bay.

HOLMES, Va., Aug. 26 (AP) — Desire to escape from death row in a maximum security prison has been put in doubt for the first time by an inmate who said he would be willing to stay in a death row.

A member of the National Association of State Penitentiaries said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.

The inmate, identified as a federal prisoner, said yesterday that he would be willing to stay in a death row, but only if the inmate was given better care.

The inmate was held in the state prison for the past three years, but was transferred to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1976.